ACCS Statement on Viewpoint Diversity in the Classical Christian Tradition

The views of individual board members, employees, and conference speakers do not necessarily represent the views of the Association of Classical Christian Schools or its member schools. The ACCS represents a growing and thriving movement united by a common Christian confession, an allegiance to Jesus and the Scriptures, and a particular vision for education. Within that classical Christian tradition, we believe there is room for a great variety of perspectives on a host of issues and that exploration, discussion, and debate of those issues are central aspects of the educational vision that we are seeking to recover.